Assembly Bill 388 establishes a state waterfront development program, within the Department of Commerce, to assist cities, villages, and towns in revitalizing land adjacent to lakes and streams to increase economic activity and tourism. The bill also creates an on-the-waterfront council to assist in developing a plan to operate the on-the-waterfront program, review the effectiveness of the program, and recommend procedures to improve the program.

Assembly Amendment 1 adds counties to the types of local government eligible for assistance under the on-the-waterfront program.
